

Multi-Skilled

This discipline is a combination of the Electrical & Mechanical trades with a bias to Electrical. The training year is split between the two giving an appreciation of both.

There is an increasing demand in industry for Multi-skilled engineers as some companies tend to look for fully rounded engineer who is capable with a majority of different tasks across the trades.